

Figure 9. Charge property detection. High correlation of specificity signal and Fv pI indicate detection of the charge properties of mAbs evaluated. Uniquely, the standard SMP reagent detects several low pI mAbs, indicating its usefulness for the evaluation of mAbs with known low pI values. However, results are still heavily skewed to detection of high pI mAbs. This is more exaggerated with the ovalbumin reagent.