

Figure 9. Charge property detection. High correlation of specificity signal and Fv pl indicate detection of the charge properties of mAbs evaluated. Uniquely, the standard SMP reagent detects several low pl mAbs, indicating its usefulness for the evaluation of mAbs with known low pl values. However, results are still heavily skewed to detection of high pl mAbs. This is more exaggerated with the ovalbumin reagent.